Dear John:

That was an awfully nice note you sent me concerning the Petersburg Rotarian get-together. They were grand and wonderful people and it was a memorable occasion for both Angie and me. You and Norma were absolutely radiant. We miss your presence in and around the Agency, but it is good to know that retirement has brought a sense of renewal to both of you.

Let's keep in touch. Petersburg is not all that far away and you know our doors in Fairfax are always open to you and Norma.

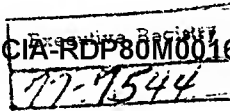

Faithfully yours,

Dear Hank,

You might like to know that the warm reception you received that Friday evening was evident throughout the rest of the conference. Your address was the subject of many favorable remarks and deeply appreciated. Many members came to me on Saturday expressing renewed confidence and trust in the work of intelligence.

It was good of you and Angie to come. It made Norma and me realize that we had never left the outfit. Your early morning departure stirred many memories and from this vantage point contained an inspiring symbolism.

Norma and I send our best wishes to you and Angie. We hope we can get together again in the future and may I offer my personal help if ever you should need it.

Sincerely,
